Suncorp has an ongoing commitment to creating a work environment that allows for increased flexibility wherever possible, acknowledging personal preferences and business requirements. Flexible arrangements may include changes to the time (when), location (where) and manner (how) in which employees work.

Employees are also provided flexibility through Suncorp's part-time employment offerings:

- Traditional Part-Time arrangement for an employee working fewer than 37.5 hours per week and minimum of 3 hours per day;
- Flexible Part-Time arrangement where employee and leader agrees to ordinary hours of work averaging over a 1-4 week period;
- Partial Part-Time arrangement where employee and leader agrees to the minimum number of weeks worked in a year.

Our ongoing commitment to enhancing flexibility at Suncorp has been promoted widely through the 'People of Suncorp' video series. These videos are promoted via internal and external media channels to demonstrate how flexibility can be used by employees, no matter their role and gender.

It is important that leaders at Suncorp understand and embed flexible working in their own practices and in their team's way of working. Leader-focussed training sessions were run in 2017 to raise awareness around driving flexibility, provide tips, and address any misconceptions around flexible working. The packs from these sessions are also available on the intranet for any employee to access.

Suncorp participated in and sponsored the 2017 DCA-Suncorp Inclusion@Work Index. The findings indicated that 86% of our employees felt they had the flexibility to manage their work and caring and personal responsibilities.

A series of virtual Leader Support Sessions were run in 2017, in response to feedback from Suncorp leaders around areas they need support in. These sessions were facilitated by an external psychologist to build an understanding of domestic and family violence, and how to respond to and support employees through such circumstances.

(As with all questions in this questionnaire, information you provide here will appear in your public report.)

Suncorp was awarded WGEA Employer of Choice for Gender Equality in February 2018 for the fifth consecutive year.

Michael Cameron, our CEO and Managing Director, became a Pay Equity Ambassador for WGEA in September 2017, supporting Suncorp's commitment to pay equality.

Suncorp is on track to achieve its FY20 target of 45% women in senior leadership, with our current position at 43%. We are proud to have achieved gender balance across our leadership population at the end of December 2017 (50% female: 50% male). We have also achieved our gender diversity target of 40% female representation for Non-Executive Directors.

In November 2017, Suncorp sponsored Diversity Council Australia to launch the first inclusion index for Australia. The Inclusion@Work survey was also conducted internally at Suncorp to measure our own inclusivity. We are proud that our results compare favourably against the National Index and show strengths in inclusive leadership, team inclusion, and gender equality.

Suncorp honoured International Women's Day 2018 (8 March) with an event hosted company-wide, and well attended by both men and women, exploring the concept of Gender Equality in a range of contexts through various lens. Following this event, a survey was sent to attendees that contained information around the current gender pay gap figure at Suncorp.

International Men's Day was also recognised for the first time at Suncorp on 19 November 2017, with a focus on men's health.

Suncorp recognises that flexible work offerings are a crucial contributor to being able to create an inclusive culture and we're proud of our leading position in this area. An internal audit of our people practices was also undertaken to identify and subsequently remove any that inhibit the inclusion of any of our people.

An inclusion audit of Suncorp's key policies, procedures, and similar artefacts was conducted during this review period to identify non-inclusive language and practices. No material exceptions were identified with regard to gender, and associated interviews with HR representatives revealed Suncorp's gender equality focus is embedded in many of our employee lifecycle practices, particularly our recruitment and selection processes.

Focus groups with men and parental leave returners groups at Suncorp were conducted in 2017 to explore the impact of our gender equality focus. The findings from these groups were implemented throughout 2017.

White Ribbon day was recognised on 25 November 2017 by Suncorp to show our support in the campaign to address domestic violence.

Suncorp is progressing the refresh of its 'Suncorp Women Connect' employee resource group. This group strives to create forums promoting connection and growth for men and women, and to drive gender equality throughout Suncorp. The group champions the experience of women through hosting events to share experiences and build awareness, mentoring opportunities providing guidance and exposure, and developing a network of disruptors to break bias and progress thinking.

Suncorp aspires to be an industry leader for gender equality and as such we prioritise external knowledge sharing. In this reporting period, some of the knowledge sharing we participated in included:

- Business Council Australia (BCA) research report 'Women in Leadership: Lessons from Australian companies leading the way'. Insight interviews were held with Michael Cameron (CEO and Managing Director), Ed Cooley (EGM, People & Performance) and Zara Bartholomew (Manager, Customer Development). Ed Cooley spoke on a panel at the report's launch on 9th November 2017.
- Australian Institute for Company Directors (AICD) 'Boards for Balance' pilot;
- LinkedIn 'Moving the needle for women leaders' report;
- A case study featured as part of the DCA-Suncorp Inclusion@Work Index national launch;
- A case study feature on Femeconomy website;
- An online news article featuring our Chief People Experience Officer, Amanda Revis, on Suncorp's external-facing site;
- Pip Marlow and Amanda Revis, two members of the Senior Leadership Team, also spoke at external industry events related to gender equality.

Suncorp continues to support and implement programs aimed at improving gender equality, including:
