Statement on confidentiality agreements and the Royal Commission

Suncorp is committed to supporting the Royal Commission, as we have with all other inquiries that the Government has initiated and we welcome any measures that deliver improved outcomes for our customers.

As such, Suncorp will release persons who are bound by confidentiality undertakings in order to allow them to make submissions to the Royal Commission into Misconduct in the Banking, Superannuation and Financial Services Industry

This release only relates to submissions made to the Royal Commission.

People planning to make a submission on matters covered by a confidentiality undertaking may also need to seek the consent of other individuals or organisations who may be named as part of their submission.

The Royal Commission has considerable powers to compel evidence, as well as providing protection for witnesses and other parties required to produce evidence.
